UCC and Trademark User Account Information Sheet

Wisconsin's new UCC and Trademark System offers new ways for customers to manage how they interact with the Department. User Accounts are now required for all users to access and use the features of the new system.

Benefits of Creating a User Account:

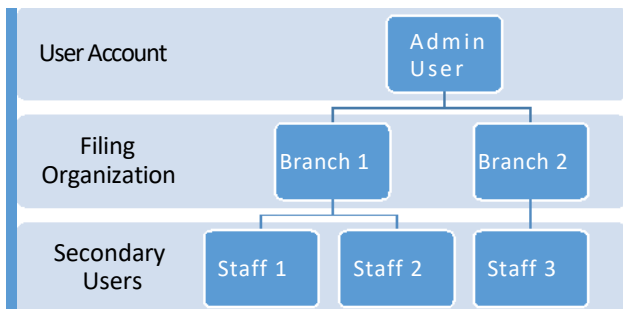

- View 90 days of filing history.
- Access filed documents for 90 days.
- Set Notifications to be alerted to filings on Originals.
- Save frequently used address information to autofill on forms.
- Manage Secondary Users and their filings under one account.

Setting Up Your Account:

It is recommended that your organization design your account structure before users begin using the system as it is not possible to split and merge accounts later. Once you create a User Account, you can use the Personalization Menu to define your organization structure and set up any Secondary Users.

Account Structure:

Users can choose the account structure that works best for them and their organization. Two common structures are described below, but you may find that a hybrid of these structures, or a different design all together works best for your organization.

Hierarchical Account Structure

Pros:

- A single admin user can view the filing activity of all secondary users.
- Admin user can activate and deactivate secondary users as needed.
- Allows for multiple organizations to be under one main account, such as branches of a bank or filing office.

Cons:

- Only one Admin level user account can be defined.
- Autofill preferences cannot be customized per staff member.

Independent Users Account Structure

Pros:

- No administrative role user needs to be identified at your organization.
- Each staff member can manage their own autofill preferences and filing history.

Cons:

- No admin access to staff filing history when a staff account is no longer in use.
